

Cognition and Lying

2019

Brno

28–30 November

Deadline extended
22 September!

Faculty of Arts, Masaryk University

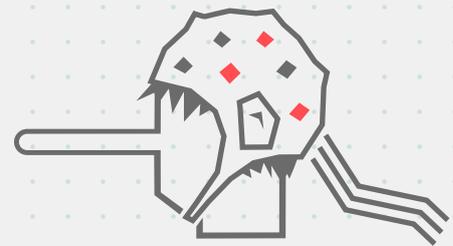

CALL FOR PAPERS

BRAK (Brno Analytic Circle), in cooperation with the Department of Philosophy and Faculty of Arts at Masaryk University, invites you to conference on cognition and lying CaL2019.

CaL2019 follows the previous conference CaL2017 (Cognition and Language) in its effort to show how cognitive science can endorse traditional philosophical topics. This time, the topic at hand is lying and deception – ubiquitous phenomenon, interesting not only in its moral controversy but also in its persistent presence in our everyday lives. CaL2019 tries to present a variety of possible approaches to this topic, from philosophical to psychological and neuroscientific.

Topics

Possible topics could include, but are not limited to: definition of lying and deception • evolutionary justification of lying • psychology of lying • neuroscientific look on deception • fake news • means of manipulation in media and marketing • moral controversy of lying • self-deception

Keynote speaker

prof. James Edwin Mahon

(City University of New York, Lehman College)
His interest lies in the philosophy of lying and deception, areas of applied ethics, metaethics and normative ethics, especially Kant and Mill.

Important dates

- Submission deadline: ~~31 August 2019~~
- Extended submission deadline: 22 September 2019
- Notification of acceptance: by the end of September 2019
- Registration: 15 October 2019
- CaL2019: 28–30 November 2019

Submissions

Submissions of proposals of contributed talks (20 minutes + 10 minutes for discussion) should contain abstract (300–600 words) with author(s) name(s), affiliation(s) and e-mail address and should be in two formats, docx and pdf. Please send your submission prior to ~~31 August 2019~~ 22 September 2019 to conference@ibrak.cz

Registration and payment

Authors of accepted talks will be asked to download and complete a registration form and return it prior to 15 October 2019 to conference@ibrak.cz. The payment amount for active participation is 500 CZK or 20 EUR. Details of payment and registration form will be available after notification of acceptance.

Post conference publication

Authors of selected talks will be invited to prepare extended papers of their work for submission to the special issue of journal Pro-Fil. For further information on the journal visit www.phil.muni.cz/journals/profil

For more information visit brak.cz/cal2019. Questions can be sent to conference@ibrak.cz

MUNI
ARTS

